KONA MURDER CASE TO BE HEARD HERE

(Special Wireless to The Advertiser.)
HILO, May 3.—The case of the Territory against Henriques, indicted for murder, will be heard in Honolulu, having been transferred from the Kailua circuit to that of Honolulu yesterday.

The Henriques murder case grew out of a dispute between Joseph G. Henriques and some Japanese tenants of land in Kona. The Japanese had claimed the right to certain lumber on the land, and Henriques disputed their claims. On November 23, 1911, he left his home and placed his son on guard, with a revolver, according to the witnesses interviewed at the time. The Japanese who claimed the lumber came and tried to get some of it, and there was a row, during which Henriques Sr., who had returned, was attacked by a Japanese with a knife. His son shot the Jap, inflicting a wound that caused death on the following day. The young man also seriously wounded another Japanese.

An indictment for murder was brought against young Henriques and this is the case that has been transferred to the first circuit.

"THE KING IS DEAD; THAT IS, JOHNNY MARTIN IS DEPOSED"

King Johnson Martin, who succeeded to the rule of Kakaua when P. W. Bider was called to the Coast a month or more ago, has been deformed and his reign is now governed by a new man, E. L. Banks, who arrived here recently from Seattle and took charge of the mission, the domestic affairs of Kakaua, the guidance of the Kakaua youth and all the multifarious responsibilities of the office. It may be said that King Johnson's reign was fairly peaceful and prosperous, thanks to a bold front and an iron hand.

The new missionary, who comes here to stay, was formerly a board of health employee on Kauai, so he has some knowledge of the ways of the people who will come under his care. Missionary Banks and Mrs. Banks have been at their post for several days and until this morning were more than delighted with the work. The children were wonderfully interesting and quite docile and the prospects were bright. The first case of that general character which P. W. Bider had been handling for ten years came up yesterday morning, and while the child was ill with a toothache the plan for the organization was sealed.

C. A. Staton, of the First National Bank, heads the chapter as president, with R. H. Trout as vice-president, W. W. Chamberlain as treasurer, R. Clark as secretary and George W. technique as director.

Ernest B. Clark, now of temporary chairman, with George Wathenhouse, secretary, Mr. Clark stated the objects of the meeting and the desire of a number of persons connected with banks and trust companies here to affiliate with the methodical organization. A committee, which had been appointed at a meeting on April 10, reported.

Assured of Support.
Having the assurance of the moral as well as the necessary financial support of the heads of all the institutions which will be represented in the proposed organization, your committee discussed a plan for the carrying out of its purpose which results in the gathering tonight for the purpose of organizing a Hawaiian chapter of the American Institute of Banking.

The report went on to say that invitations had been issued to all officers, directors and employees of the banks and trust companies of the Territory, many of which are located on the other islands. The committee estimated a possible membership of seventy-five. Following the adoption of by-laws and the election of officers, all present signed the roll as charter members.

He explained that his wife had been out of jail several weeks and that during that time she had had few moments of solace. She took money from his clothes, bought wine and entertained the neighbors while the pot which he brought in went to waste in the house. His convivial better half and her comrade were so busy studying the rules of the vintage that they found no occasion to eat. Once, he related, the stock of wine ran out and his wife fairly turned the neighborhood upside down in her efforts to get more, and during that period of painful insatiable she was dreadfully peevish. Then yesterday morning she requested money. A few days before she had taken four dollars from her husband's trousers but four dollars does not go a long way toward adding to the gaiety of nations. More was needed and when the lord of the house refused to come through she simply got out his best suit, a pair of shears and started in. By the time he came on the scene the garments were in tatters—hence the discord.

Of course there is nothing novel about this, it is simply the Kakaua brand of domesticity, but it did seem unusual to the missionaries.

Questionable Bills.

"I think that is the only proper way of handling the commission's money affairs, and the public should have an opportunity to know where its money goes. I make no charges, but I might mention the fact that Fisher called attention to several items marked 'extras' and nothing else, and several other items, including the passage from New York of the wife of one of the engineers, which he questioned. Furthermore, I saw among the demands one for a salary for $416.66 a month whereas the board passed a resolution making it only $300 a month. This resolution has never been reconsidered—and as the secretary of the commission I should certainly know if it had been—or has any new resolution or motion changing this salary passed at any meeting.

"Things like that make me think that the commission's finances should be brought before the meetings, and I am going to ask, at the next meeting, that this course be adopted."

CHOICE LIES BEWEEN
A. HORNER AND L. M.
WHITEHOUSE FOR JOB

With Albert Horner first in choice and L. M. Whitehouse second, the available candidates for the position of superintendent of public works seem to have dwindled down to two, judging from the conclusions of those closest to governmental affairs.

H. K. Bishop, consulting engineer of the Hawaii Loan Fund Commission, who is considered, could be one of the strongest and most likely candidates if he wished, is understood to be out of the running. While it is quite certain that if he desired the position very much he could have it, big offers from the mainland and the desire of his family to return there will probably take him from the Islands upon the completion of his present work.

Another candidate for the position is James T. Taylor, consulting engineer and at present in charge of the final location of the extension of the Hilo railroad from Oskaloa to Paiau. His name is said to have the backing of the Hawaiian Engineering Association and has also been considered, it is said, by the Republican Central Committee.

However, Horner or Whitehouse, are now the only accepted candidates for the position and the announcement, which will probably be made before the Governor leaves for the Coast, will probably contain the name of the former.

FIFTH CAVALRYMEN MAKE HIGH SCORES

The target practice at Schofield Barracks in which the first six troops of the Fifth Cavalry have been participating, have resulted in some remarkable revolver records and have turned out many marksmen and sharpshooters than any previous practice which the regiment has had in these Islands. In the revolver work Lieutenant Christy scored 368 in the dismounted course and Lieutenant Warren scored 350 out of a possible 400 which the veterans of the regiment say is the highest score ever made in that body, and which is believed to be an army record under modern conditions.

HAWAIIAN BANK MEN ORGANIZE

FORM CHAPTER OF AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF BANKING.

GOOD TALK.

(From Saturday's Advertiser.) Forty-four members of leading and trust companies of Honolulu last night organized the Hawaiian chapter of the American Institute of Banking at a meeting at the University Club. The chapter elected its officers and voted to discuss on banking and bank education from men who have been handling the money of the community for periods ranging from the next present to the days of the Republic. As an informal speaker was the occasion for the gathering and while the club room was filled with tobacco smoke the plan for the organization was sealed.
